Columbus Journal: Sup't O'Connor of the Norfolk public schools was in the city Thursday, and gave The Journal sanctum a very pleasant visit. He was looking in his usual good health and spirits, as though he had not passed through a siege of severe sickness. While he was ill and without solicitation, the board elected him superintendent for three years.

After consultation with a number of leading farmers, Mayor Simpson has concluded to apportion the selection of grains for the Paris exposition from the district of which Norfolk is the commercial center, among the neighboring counties. He will ask the secretaries of the various agricultural societies to assist in the work. From Pierce county he will ask the best peck of rye; from Antelope county the best half bushel of oats; from Wayne county the best half bushel of wheat; from Stanton county the best half bushel of yellow corn; from Madison county the best half bushel of white corn; from Knox county he will request the best peck of barley.
In this way it is hoped to have each county interested and the display will represent the entire district.

The news regarding movements of the promoters of the Yankton & Norfolk railway seems to have stirred up all kinds of railroad rumors and movements at Yankton. A party of surveyors of the C. St. P. M. & O. company left that city Tuesday with 10 days' rations. They went northwest and the object is to find a pathway to and beyond Tyndall. Jim Hill of the Great Northern threatens to invade the same territory for about 150 miles, while the Chicago & Northwestern is watching movements with the intention of looking after its territory. This company has a profile of a northwestern extension and can with very little delay put a force of graders at work. There is a large territory northwest of Yankton, which has not been tapped by railroad lines owing to an agreement which ends with 1899. The Northwestern is also in position to cross the river to Hartington or Ponca as soon as the Yankton & Norfolk plans are fully matured.

The Pringles.

Among the pleasing theatrical organizations to visit Norfolk the coming season, may be mentioned the Pringle company of comedians, specialty artists and talented actresses. They are billed for two nights only, but the local management may persuade them to remain for the third performance.

The exchanges speak in highly complimentary terms of the plays presented and also of the players themselves.
For several years the Pringles have played the state of Nebraska, visiting the principal cities. Norfolk has been left out, simply because no effort has heretofore been made to book good attractions. The local manager promises to secure for Norfolk the best road combinations possible in the future, and trusts that the city will sustain its reputation of being appreciative in the substantial way of liberal patronage.

Aside from the regular play produced each evening by the Pringle company, several novel and pleasing features will be presented, among which are the wonderful kaleidoscopic dance with calcium and mechanical effects; the latest popular ballads, illustrated, and sung by trained voices. A surprise is in store for the public, for Manager Pringle believes in giving his audiences more than he promises. Reserved seats on sale at the usual place. Monday, August 28, is the opening date.

PICNIC AT WAYNE.

The A. O. U. W. and D. of H. Gathering
a Big Success.

The picnic of the Northeast Nebraska A. O. U. W. and D. of H. Picnic association, held at Wayne yesterday, was a success in every particular. The day opened hot and sultry, but about 10 o'clock there was a slight shower which cooled the atmosphere and the remainder of the day was an ideal one. Morning trains brought delegations from Norfolk, Randolph, Carroll, Pender, Ponca, Hartington, Bloomfield, Laurel, South Sioux City, Emerson and Wisner, while the neighboring town of Wakefield contributed a large number of members of the order, part of whom came by train and more drove over, bringing their fine band with them.
The various trains were met at the depot by the Wayne reception committee, who extended the glad hand to the visitors and escorted them to the lodge room. After the last morning train had arrived a parade was formed by lodges, led by the Wayne band, and the line of march was taken up to the fair grounds.

Here a large number of seats had been provided under cover, faced by a speaker's platform, where the exercises of the day were held. F. A. Berry of Carroll, president of the association, ably presided over the meeting which followed.
After prayer by Rev. Chas. Welden, an address of welcome was given by Guy R. Willour of Wayne, who in a hearty, cordial manner expressed the pleasure of the members of Wayne lodge that so many of those from surrounding towns were present. This was responded to by Grand Master Workman M. E. Shultz, on behalf of the members of the A. O. U. W. Mrs. R. M. Farr of Wayne then welcomed the members of the D. of H. in a few well chosen sentences, which were responded to by Mrs. Maggie Varyan of Carroll.

Then the chairman introduced Hon.
E. J. Burkett of Lincoln, congressman from the second district, who spoke of the fraternal side of the A. O. U. W., showing that the fraternity has for its prime object the lifting up of humanity, and that mankind is better for touching elbows, better for standing side by side in the struggle with the world. Mr. Burkett is one of the most gifted orators in the state, and his beautiful word pictures retained the closest attention of his audience.

The noon hour having arrived, great baskets were brought out and their contents provided the means of satisfying a multitude of outdoor appetites.

Immediately after dinner a business meeting of the association was held, when it was decided that another picnic should be given next year and the place was fixed at Randolph. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: F. A.
Berry of Carroll, president; Bert Brown of Wayne, secretary; M. M. Winebrenner of Randolph, treasurer. Motion prevailed that an executive committee be chosen, one member by each lodge in the district, with the exception that Randolph be allowed three members of the committee. The executive committee was authorized to draft constitution and by-laws and submit same to each lodge for adoption.

The whole audience then called to order and M. E. Shultz, grand master workman of the order, was introduced. The grand master was in his best form, and in an earnest, truthful way he explained why a membership in the A. O. U. W. is a blessing to the man who holds it, and continues to be so during life, but proves a greater blessing to his family when he is taken away. He spoke of the financial aswell as the fraternal phase of the order, and his words could not fail to carry conviction to everyone who heard him.

A Degree of Honor drill was given on the platform by the degree team of Wayne lodge, which was very finely executed and called forth repeated applause. The team had been practicing but a short time, yet so apt had they been that they presented the evolutions in a manner almost perfect.

The remainder of the afternoon was given up to diversions of various kinds, including an exhibition of tight rope walking, foot races by men, boys and girls, and the running down of a greased pig. Then there was a tug of war, and the day closed with a game of base ball between the Carroll team and a picked nine, which resulted in favor of the former by a score of 30 to 4. The batteries were Noyes and Wood for Carroll, and Bary and Linnman for the picked nine. Taken all in all, the A. O.
U. W. picnic at Wayne was one of the most enjoyable as well as profitable occasions of the kind that has ever been held in Northeast Nebraska, and the members of the Wayne lodge proved themselves royal entertainers.

Date of Reception.

The following letter from W. J. Stevenson, chairman of the executive committee that is arranging the reception to company F, First Nebraska regiment, is self explanatory:

MADISON, August 23, 1899.—Hon. J. E.
Simpson, Norfolk, Neb.—My Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I announce to you the fact that we have fixed the date for holding our reception to company F, which will be Thursday, August 31, 1899, and have mailed to you today a package of small posters announcing the date and the program, which I entrust to you for a general distribution in your town.
Thanking you in advance for the trouble which we have put you to in this matter, I remain, Respectfully,
W. J. STEVENSON,
Chairman Executive Committee.

Mrs. L. Bowser is still operating the sod house on the Omaha exposition grounds, which has been enlarged so that she is able to feed three times as many people as last year, and that the sod house is still a popular place to get meals while on the grounds is attested by the large crowds which go there every day. Mrs. Bowser is also interested in the Othello lodging house, 1911 Davenport street, where nice rooms may be secured at reasonable prices.

THE ALUM BAKING POWDERS.

Names of some of the Principal Brands Sold in this Vicinity.

The recent discussion in the papers of the effect upon the human system of food made with alum baking powders and the opinions that have been published from noted scientists to the effect that such powders render the food unwholesome, have caused numerous inquiries for the names of the various alum powders.

The following list of baking powders containing alum is made up from the reports of State Chemist Nicholson of Nebraska, the city chemist of St. Louis, the food commission of Minnesota, or other reliable authority:

Baking Powders Containing Alum:
K. C. Contains alum.
Jacques Mfg. Co., Chicago.
Manhattan Contains alum.
Hewson Chemical Co., Kansas City.
C. P. Contains alum.
Allen Bros. Co., Omaha.
German Contains alum.
Consolidated Coffee Co., Omaha.
Calumet Contains alum.
Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago.
Bon Bon Contains alum.
Hotel Grant Chemical Co., Chicago.
Chimax Contains alum.
Chimax Baking Powder Co., Indianapolis.
Kenton Contains alum.
Butter-Patrol Co., Cincinnati.
Jack Frost Contains alum.
Bain & Chapman Mfg. Co., St. Louis.
Rocket Contains alum.
Sherman Bros. & Co., Chicago.
Three Men Contains alum.
Hidomour Baker Grocery Co., Kansas City.

In addition to these, it is learned that many grocers are selling what they call their own private or special brands.
These powders are put up for the grocer and his name put upon the labels by manufacturers of alum powders in St.
Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and elsewhere. The manufacturers, it is said, find their efforts to market their goods in this way greatly aided by the ambition of the grocer to sell a powder with his own name upon the label, especially as he can make an abnormal profit upon it. Many grocers, doubtless, do not know that the powders they are thus pushing are alum powders, which would be actually contraband in many sections if sold without disguise.

It is quite impossible to give the names of all the alum baking powders in the market. They are constantly appearing in all sorts of disguises, under all kinds of cognomens and at all kinds of prices, even as low as five and ten cents a pound. They can be avoided, however, by the housekeeper who will bear in mind that all baking powders sold at twenty-five cents or less per pound are liable to contain alum, as pure cream of tartar powders cannot be produced at anything like this price.
